

MOEBE is looking for an ambitious design student to join our Copenhagen studio in Winter/Spring 2027

Hi - we're MOEBE.

We're looking for a design student who wants to spend Winter/Spring 2027 right in the middle of product development: sketching, prototyping, testing, tweaking, and helping bring new ideas into the world.

What we do

We design furniture and objects across many scales, though always with the same goal: less stuff, but better stuff.

That means designing things that last, can be repaired, and can be responsibly produced close to home in well-chosen materials.

What you'll be doing

- Developing concepts and detailing products across different scales (from smaller objects to lighting and furniture)
- Building lots of physical prototypes — often 1:1 — in our workshop
- Making clear technical drawings and supplier-ready files
- Assisting on photo and video shoots when new products launch
- Assisting on building up trade fairs like Trends & Traditions/ 3 Days of Design

What we're looking for

- Someone who is able to take initiative and enjoy pushing a project forward
- Are comfortable in Rhino, Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign
- Have some experience making physical prototypes — and you're keen to do a lot more
